

Health, Safety, and Environmental Policy

Seattle Diving Corporation will provide and maintain a safe and healthy work environment.

Seattle Diving Corporation will maintain a vigorous safety and injury prevention program by allocating the necessary resources.

The prevention of job-related injuries and illnesses will be given precedence over all other activities.

Any employee who observes an unsafe condition is required to stop ongoing operations until the unsafe condition is resolved.

All managers and supervisors are responsible for implementing policy and managing execution.

Everyone is responsible for performing their jobs in such a way as to not endanger themselves, co-workers, the general public, or the environment.

Seattle Diving Corporation is committed to the goal of zero accidents through continuous improvement. This commitment is expected of our employees, partners, and contractors.
